The Future Conway Center Takes Shape on Benning Road, NE

Construction is well underway on the future Conway Center at 4430 Benning Road, NE! It will take about two and a half years to complete the mixed-use, LEED-certified facility. You can watch a live feed of the construction at capitalcampaign.some.org/live-feed/.

Construction at the Benning Road, NE site of the future Conway Center.

General contractor Bozzuto is currently digging three stories underground to create the building's parking lot, sheeting and shoring. In March, Bozzuto will begin pouring concrete for the seven-story structure. Topping off is scheduled for November 2016 and substantial completion is slated for November 2017.

Shoebox Gifts!

Thank you to all of the individuals, churches, schools and companies who donated beautiful shoebox gifts for homeless children, women and men. Over 2,000 thoughtful gifts were distributed to folks in our Dining Rooms and our rehabilitative and residential programs. You were so generous that even after providing a gift for each person who needed one, we had some left over. These will be used in the coming months to supply those we serve with toiletries and clothing.

How You Are Helping Those in Need

In 2015, with the help of Provide-A-Meal volunteers, SOME served 241,106 nutritious meals to hungry children, women and men in our Main Dining Room and our Dining Room for Women and Children.

Housing the Homeless Update

Currently, 686 families with children and single adults are living in SOME's safe and affordable housing. We have 291 additional apartments and private rooms under development, which will bring the total number of dignified housing units provided to 977.

You Were Amazing in 2015

Over the past 45 years, you, our donors, volunteers and supporters, have consistently provided the generous support needed to fulfill SOME's mission. In 2015, you went even farther, enabling us to provide a record number of holiday meals and shoebox gifts to poor and homeless children, women and men.

Thanks to you, we provided more than four times more Thanksgiving dinner baskets - about 800 total - to vulnerable individuals and families, including 48 seniors, distributed 2,164 beautiful, bountiful shoebox gifts, and gave each child and teen living in our affordable housing two wonderful holiday gifts.

This was all in addition to the more than 1,000 daily meals and wraparound services that you support all year long. Thank you!

Ben, Matias and Isabella enjoy a special holiday meal provided by Del Frisco's Grille.

Your Stories

SOME is grateful for its many dedicated and caring supporters. Here are stories and letters from folks who contribute their time, talent and donations to SOME.

Dear Fr. John,

It is my pleasure to be in the position to give back. I was homeless in Washington, DC. It was a cold winter and I was not native to the area.

I noticed how much time and effort it took to take care of the homeless. Homelessness is not easy, but I understand that the organization would not be there if there were not finances available to manage everything.

I told myself I would never forget this place. It was set up in a lovely setting and it really just helped me to forget that I was homeless...even if it was for just one moment.

Thank you for being there!

Love,
Stacy

SOMething in Common with Georgetown Dental Alumni

In 1990, Georgetown University Dental Alumni were disheartened when our school closed after 99 years of treating patients in the DC area. The closing of our alma mater's dental clinic meant losing our "home base."

Luckily, we treated patients at SOME's Dental Clinic during our training and, for most of us, it was the first time we truly understood the power of our skills and what they meant to those in need. I believe it is this charitable understanding that Georgetown dentists and SOME have in common.

We find comfort in knowing SOME continues to provide free dental care in the D.C. area. Last year, their clinic performed 4,177 dental procedures during 2,763 visits.

With proceeds from purchasing Georgetown fleece jackets and Dentalopoly games, our dental alumni are donating two ultrasonic scalers and $1,000 toward the purchase of two Piezon Master Surgery Complete Basic Systems. With this donation we uphold Georgetown's tradition of "making the world a better place" one patient at a time.

Success Stories

For the first year of her life, Heaven often coughed up blood and stopped breathing. Her panicked mother Maya rushed her to the hospital dozens of times.

This would have been difficult for any young mother. It was even harder because Heaven and Maya were homeless.

One year ago, they were one of 27 families – many from DC General Shelter – that moved into affordable apartments at SOME's Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Building.

Since then, Heaven hasn't been to the hospital once. She has her own room where she now sleeps peacefully under a Cinderella comforter.

With a stable place to live and improved health, Heaven is in preschool, where she has "really, really grown" – in speech, development and interactions with other kids.

The change in Heaven is remarkable, and it is thanks to you. Your support makes it possible for us to provide safe, affordable housing that enables kids and families to become healthy and whole.

Dear Fr. John,

First and foremost, I want to thank you for saving my life. SOME gave me hope, faith, love and respect for myself. That was my first step to success.

Sincerely,
Stephanie

Volunteer Spotlight: Tasya Arrington

Tasya Arrington, a SOME volunteer since 1990, is one of the many dedicated volunteers and supporters who make SOME's mission possible. She shared her reasons for volunteering, and what keeps her coming back to help the homeless at SOME.

My compassion comes from a very young age. I grew up in a single parent home. There were many times when the food was short and maybe the utilities not paid, rent not on time, or a vacate notice, but we never went hungry. Our mother never wavered. Her love and hard-working ethics and faith showered our home.

We never knew the drastic struggle she went through to provide for us. We thought our lives were great, in a home full of love. I know now, when mom would hand money to a person on the streets, or provide a sandwich to a homeless person, that she was giving from faith that our God would provide.

She was taking from what little she had for us at home and shared it with the strangers, as if we were rich, maybe not in monetary means but we were rich with that love and compassion to help others. With just pure love and enjoyment of seeing someone eat that day. So as I look back and hold onto those memories, I knew from seeing, feeling it, and embracing that one day this [helping others] would be passionate spot in my life.

It's been so long that I can't quite remember when SOME found its way into my life. I'm often on the Saturday morning 6:15am morning shift and most holidays. I do it from the heart, not for show or recognition. That's why I've been a part of this for over 25 years - the JOY of fullness of GRATITUDE.

At the end of a volunteer shift I feel, honored, peaceful in mind, humbled in my spirit and blessed in my heart, and am always mindful in my daily life to never turn my back on anyone because the unthinkable can happen when we least expect it.

Daryl Wright Brings New Flavor to the Dining Room

Daryl Wright began his career in marketing and finance, working in both the private sector and in the nonprofit world. He later joined the SOME staff and worked in our Behavioral Health Clinic.

However, Daryl has enjoyed cooking and creating recipes for his entire life. When the opportunity to run SOME's Dining Room came up, he knew it was where he belonged.

"I am a visual person. I want food to be an experience – we eat with our eyes first," Daryl says. He creatively plates the food served in the Dining Room so that it is aesthetically appealing, as well as nourishing.

A recent meal in SOME's Dining Room.

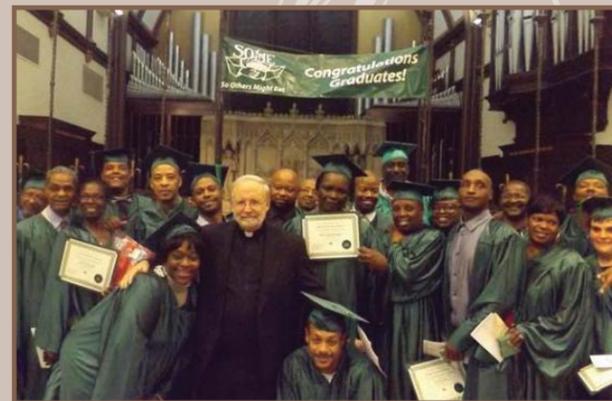

Daryl's time in the Behavioral Health Clinic gave him an understanding of our guests' health issues that enables him to create healthy, satisfying meals. He uses fresh ingredients in every meal and encourages the Provide-A-Meal groups that generously prepare and serve meals at SOME to do the same.

He also prepares fresh salads, complete with protein, so that if a person can't eat what is on the menu, we are able to offer a nourishing alternative. He believes that showing our guests respect and dignity begins with a high-quality, healthy meal.

The skills that Daryl developed in the marketing and finance industries have also translated very well in his new position. He uses them to ensure that SOME is able to feed over 1,000 people each day, every day of the year, in our Dining Room and in our rehabilitative programs.

Addictions Program Graduation

On October 15, 2015, 23 formerly homeless men and women officially completed SOME's 18-month addiction recovery program. A beautiful graduation ceremony was held at the Church of the Epiphany, in front of a joyful crowd of friends and family members. One graduate speaker said, "SOME gave me a new life." Congratulations to the graduates and their loved ones.

Fall 2015 graduates with Fr. John.

Homeless Vigil and Memorial Service

On December 17 and 18, SOME co-sponsored the Homeless Vigil and Memorial Service to remember the more than 41 individuals who passed away during the year while homeless. An overnight vigil was held on Freedom Plaza, followed by the Memorial Service at New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. At the service, Mr. Matthew Doherty, Executive Director of the U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness, said, "We need to have an even greater sense of urgency."

Thank You, Trotters!

On Thanksgiving morning, 10,000 runners and walkers from the area and across the country gathered in downtown DC for the 14th Annual Trot for Hunger 5K. By the end of the race, new records had been set, including a new Trot fundraising record of over $650,000!

Presenting Sponsor General Dynamics had the largest team for the second year in a row, with over 90 team members. The General Dynamics team was led by Amy Gilliland, Vice President of Human Resources.

Thank you to General Dynamics and each individual and organization that participated in and supported this fun and meaningful community event.
